CUTPURSE IN FIFTH AVENUE.

ROBBED MRS. GRORGE P. HODGMAN AT MID-DAY AND RAN.

Pursued by Twenty Men and Ran Into' the r a Policeman Within a Block-Purse Recovered. The Prisoner an Ex-Convict Who Has Done Two Years. Mrs George F. Hodgman of 208 West Seventy-ninth street, the wife of the president of the Hodgman Rubber Company, was waylaid by a highwayman on Fifth avenue yesterday forenoon and robbed of her purse. Mrs. Hodsman had spent the morning shopping and started home an hour be She walked up the cast side Fifth avenue and was midway between Forty-first and Forty-second streets when she was seized from behind by a strong pair of arms and her purse containing $2.50 was wrenched from her hands. In an instant the thief released his held and was racing down Fifth avenue. Fully forty pedestrians saw the robbery and at least half of them, being men, started in pursuit with a cry of "stop thief!" The thief pursuit with a cry of "stop thief!" The thief was a good sprinter and he would have escaped if his pursuers had not kept up their outery. Policeman Brown, who was comiss up the avenue heard it and simply waited for the leader of the chase, who ran into his arms just south of Fortieth street.

The man struggled to get free and cried that he had done nothing to be arrested for. The pursuing witnesses of the robbery explained to the policeman what had occurred. Brown searched the prisoners and found Mrs. Hodgman's purse. The prisoner was lugged back to where Mrs. Hodgman was still atanding and she identified both the man and her purse. She went to the West Thirtieth street station as combinant. She was so nervous and unstruing in the police station that she was unable to go to court, and went home in a cab.

Mrs. Hodgman's assailant gave his name as Adam Waiters. Papers in his pockets showed that he had a criminal record and the police looked it up. Under the same of John Howe he was sentenced by Recorder Golf to two years in States prison en Jan. 19. 1847, for highway robbery. He statched a rurse from loose Terbrich of 24 East 117th street in broad daylight. was a good sprinter and he would have

CAMP MEADE EMPTY.

Last Regiment for the Philippines Leave for New York to Sail on the Logan. HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 18 -The Forty-fire United States Volunteers started from CampMead at 10 a clock to night for New York, bound for the Phillipines This is the last regiment recruite in this country for the Philippine campaign as will go to the front in fine shape. It is the opinion of the semilitary men who have watched the proress of the regiment in drill and manoeuvrin that no better regiment has been sent to the from Col Ephraim Richmond, commander, is a We Point man and has seen a lot of hard service After serving at different posts on the Atlante seaboard and at Pacific coast stations he was on duty in Alaska four years. He is a graduate of the artillery school and was captain of the Second United States Artillery. A strict disciplinarian, he has drilled the cercuits into a formidable fighting organization in a remarkably short time.

There are a few officers in the regiment who saw service during the Spanish-American war in other regiments among them Lieut R. R. Taylor, of Company F. who was an officer of the Rough Biders. Several men of the Tenth Pennsylvania have also gone to the front again with Ritchmond's command. Many of the men saw service with the Second West Virginia, and these are good soldlers. The regiment was recruited from all parts of the country. The regiment goes directly to Jersey City and will take the transport Logan there, suchoring off Brooklyn until Monday, when she will sail for Manila. The departure of this regiment closes the history of Camp Meade. More than 60,000 troops have been quartered at that camp at different times since August, 1898. The buildings and water system will now be removed and the land will then be restored to the owners, who have been requested to file their claims for damages. Most of the baggage and equipment of the Forty-first was shipped to New York yester-day. After serving at different posts on the Atlan

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

The brokerage branch of the realty market during the past week was much more active than its predecessor of the previous week, but it failed to attain the activity which is looked for at this season of the year. The causes of this failure are thought to lie in the present condition of the money market where loans on collateral are so much more remunerative that the greater security of realty loans is just now ignored, and in the increased valuations and assessments which have in many instances prevented owners and prospective buyers from agreeing on terms. A third reason might be found in the increase in struc-tural material, which leads to the same result in valuations.

There are more indications in the business of the past week than heretofore that some of the causes which have operated against an active market have disappeared, or at least become negative where they were positive formerly. These indications are to be found in the partial renewal of investment buying which was evident in the list of reported sales. It is true that this buying was not extensive, but small as it was, coming at a time when there are so many distractions, it consenses some significance. It is probable that owners and buyers are beginning to reach agree-ments as regards value, and that as soon as the rates on call and time loans in the money market became normal, thus enabling investors and builders to secure the money which is at present di verted from realty, a period of activity will ensue

In the real estate market.

The sales at private contract throughout the week were well diversified. The more important of the transactions included sales of unimproved as well as improved property. The sales of two Central Park West corners, each plot being 100x 125 feet; a block front of lots on Morningside avenue, together with six lots adjoining on 118th street and four on 119th street, and several large plots of property in The Bronx, constituted the principal parcels of vacant property. Improved property sales included two Fifth avenue proprties, one important parcel on Madison avenue a large number of the better class of private dwell ings in various sections of the city, several flats and tenements, and a large plot on St. Nicholas avenue, improved in the sense that it has on it a two-story private dwelling.

The list is so much more satisfactory than that of the previous week that it must be accepted as evidence of a partial revival which may or may

There is little change in the state of things in the auction room. The list of offerings, which was originally a fairly long one, suffered as usual through adjournments and withdrawals for one cause or another, and interest departed accordingly. In the sales under foreclosures the plaintiffs were the buyers in most cases, there being little competition. The voluntary sales met with lit-tle success generally, but those of Thursday were exceptional. All the parcels were disposed of and at good prices. A Fifth avenue parcel, No. 288, was one of the offerings during the week. but it brought out very little competition, being secured finally by a party at interest. The list of offerings for the present week is fairly long, and includes several parcels which should excite competition. The property offered by the David Jones estate, which will be sold by Auctioneer Meyers on Tuesday, contains a number of desir able pieces.
